

Arab Nations Promise to Ask Release

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatists from 10 Arab countries have promised the United States they will press for release of airline passengers held hostage by guerrillas in Jordan.

Shortly after the ambassadors gave their assurances to Secretary of State William P. Rogers Tuesday, President Nixon convened a meeting of top advisers to discuss the latest round of airline hijackings and ways of preventing them.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the high-level meeting could result in proposed legislation to deal with the hijackings. However, Ziegler said he knows of no plans for U.S. airlines to begin carrying armed guards, as some have suggested.

In promising their help to secure the release of passengers held since Sunday in two hijacked airliners in the Jordanian desert, the 10 Arab diplomats indicated their governments have little influence on the guerrillas.

"We will try to contact them and do whatever we can that they be released," said Palat Al-Ghoussein, Kuwait's ambassador and spokesman for the 10. But he said earlier experience with guerrilla organizations shows "the governments cannot do anything about it."

Al-Ghoussein said from a humanitarian view he condemns the terrorist takeover of the Swissair and Trans World Airways jets. He said such acts do not "serve the cause of the Palestinian people."

The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine is seeking the release of guerrillas held in Britain, Switzerland and West Germany in exchange for the estimated 180 hostages from the two planes.

As high-level officials pondered the guerrilla actions, Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., urged the Nixon administration to require armed guards on all U.S. planes on international routes.

Goodell and Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., also called for consideration of sanctions against Arab states that harbor hijackers.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., asked Nixon and Rogers to take whatever steps are necessary to insure the safety of Americans who are among the hostages.

The Federal Aviation Administration, meanwhile, suggested its metal-detection device to foreign governments as an effective deterrent against hijackings.

An FAA spokesman said that despite an increase in foreign hijackings, the number of cases of air piracy in this country has dropped this year.

A spokesman attributed the decline in part to increasing use of the metal-sensing device at ticket counters and boarding gates to find hidden weapons.

The harp is considered the oldest of stringed musical instruments.

Mutilated Body Found

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP) — Authorities were attempting today to identify the mutilated body of a man found Tuesday night on a railroad track about one mile north of Black Rock.

Lawrence County Deputy Sheriff Jim Johnson said the man, thought to be about 30, was clean-shaven and was wearing clean clothes. Officers found $5.60 and a small package of razor blades.

Johnson said the body was spotted by the crew of a Frisco freight train between 10 and 10:30 p.m. Johnson speculated that the man was killed earlier Tuesday when he fell off a train as it rounded a sharp curve.

Authorities said they were attempting to identify the man by his fingerprints.

They said both legs had been severed at the trunk and that the head had been mutilated.

Carswell Is Defeated in Florida

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

Dale Bumpers, who emerged from the political obscurity of a country law practice, has won the Democratic nomination for governor of Arkansas, crushing the comeback campaign of former governor Orval E. Faubus.

And in Florida, Rep. William C. Cramer captured the Republican nomination to the Senate, ending the bitter quest by G. Harold Carswell for a seat in the chamber that denied him a place on the Supreme Court.

Carswell, whose defeat was expected, and Faubus, loser in a startling upset, were the big-name political casualties as eight states held primary elections Tuesday.

The Arkansas runoff was surprising not only for the outcome, but for the towering proportions of the Bumpers victory.

With virtually all precincts counted, Bumpers had 257,385 votes to 181,089 for Faubus, who served six terms as governor, retired undefeated four years ago, and became manager of an amusement park called Dogpatch USA.

Bumpers campaigned with a promise of fresh, aggressive leadership—he seldom got more specific—and said Faubus had nothing new to offer Arkansas.

Bumpers, 45, and making his first bid for state office, will challenge Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller in the Nov. 3 election.

Nobody paid much attention to Bumpers, a lawyer from Charlestown, population 1,350, until he staged a surprising race and emerged second to Faubus in the first, eight-way primary. Faubus got 36 per cent of the vote in that one, far short of the majority required for nomination.

In other key races: —Florida's flamboyant Republican Gov. Claude R. Kirk fell short of a majority in his re-nomination bid, and was forced into a Sept. 29 runoff against millionaire druggist Jack Eckerd. Kirk had 48 per cent of the vote, Eckerd 37 per cent, in a three-man field.

$3.3 Million in Highway Bids Planned

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bids will be opened Sept. 30 on 10 road projects in the state estimated at $3.3 million, the state Highway Commission said Tuesday.

The most expensive project, estimated at $840,000, consists of surfacing and construction of three reinforced concrete slab bridges along an 8.3-mile stretch of Arkansas 298 beginning north of Avant and proceeding easterly in Garland County.

The other projects, by county: —CLEVELAND — Surfacing of 13.5 miles of Arkansas 8 from the Calhoun County line to the Bradley County line.

CHICOT — Surfacing of about one-half mile of St. Marys Sreet in Lake Village, which is Arkansas 144, beginning at the junction of U.S. 65 and extending to junction of Arkansas 159.

POLK — Surfacing of 12.4 miles of Arkansas 71 from near the north city limits of Cove northeast to south city limits of Mena.

PRAIRIE & WOODRUFF — Construction of five reinforced concrete slab span bridges, one bridge-length culvert and surfacing of about 1.7 miles of Arkansas 38, beginning 1 1/2 miles northeast of the junction of Arkansas 33 and extending easterly to the Woodruff County line.

BRADLEY — Surfacing of 5.7 miles and one bridge-length culvert on Arkansas 160, beginning south of Ingalls and extending easterly to Hermitage.

DALLAS — Construction of two concrete slab span bridges and culvert and surfacing of 1.4 miles of Arkansas 9, beginning 4.5 miles northeast of Holly Springs and extending northeasterly.

YELL — Two concrete slab span bridges and surfacing of 0.74 miles of Arkansas 7, extending northerly from near north city limits of Ola.

SEARCY — One reinforced concrete slab span bridge and surfacing of 6.5 miles of Arkansas 27, extending northerly from two miles north of Imo.

Surfacing of 4.8 miles of Arkansas 74, extending northeasterly from near northeast city limits of Marshall.

Universities Urged to Purg Radicals

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's third-ranking Democrat said today the nation's colleges and universities should purge radical professors and students and then adopt policies to keep them out.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said in a statement to the President's Commission on Campus Unrest it is time college administrators "return to a policy of making our institutions of higher learning once again representative of mainstream America."

"It is high time that professors who distort the perspective of young minds, who advocate the overthrow of our system of government, who corrupt and pervert the educational process be purged from our educational institutions," Byrd's statement said.

He said admissions policies must be tightened "rather than further prostituting and debasing them. I am convinced that one of the major causes contributing to the disorder in our institutions is the presence in those institutions of many young people who have absolutely no business being there."

Byrd said the "so-called quota system for the admission of black students" is ill-conceived and unfortunate.

"The great flaw in the quota system is simply the fact that young men and women who cannot do college-level work are admitted—even recruited—with inevitably disruptive results."

Providing a college education for all is unrealistic, especially in liberal arts, he said, because it "fails to take into proper account the aptitudes, abilities and potentialities—or lack thereof—of the individual" and, "it fails to take into account the various needs of society."

He said professors must retain the right to intellectual independence and freedom of thought but added they have no right to corrupt young students and destroy the educational institution.

Reorganizing Timetable Set by House

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders have set a three-day timetable to complete action on a comprehensive congressional reorganization bill. They may miss their mark.

In eight days of actual debate since consideration of the 140-page measure began, the House has disposed of only 35 pages. And some of the decisions already made are subject to review.

The debate started July 13. Next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday have been earmarked to complete House action on the bill calling for landmark changes in some ancient congressional practices. The bill has not been considered by the Senate, which must approve the House version if it is to become law.

Because of the time element congress has many other legislative headaches to be dealt with before final adjournment the reorganization bill may die of neglect if not disposed of soon.

Some of its more controversial provisions still must be considered. They deal with creation of a joint House-Senate committee on data processing, overhauling of the legislative reference service, rights of minority committee members, and curbs on Senate addition of non-germane provisions to House-passed bills.

The outcome of the pending fights could have a vital effect on the final House votes.

Some provisions already approved, subject to reconsideration, have cost the measure some of its earlier support.

They call for publication of heretofore non-recorded House votes and limited broadcasting of committee sessions, as well as refusal to alter the time-hallowed seniority system of advancement through longevity.

CHEVY'S NEW LITTLE CAR IS OPEN FOR BUSINESS.

We call it Vega.

We also call it "the little car that does everything well."

Because it does.

Everything? Everything.

Vega moves well, stops well, steers well, rides well, handles well, responds well, passes well, travels well, parks well, wears well, and is priced well under what you'd expect to pay for such a talented little car.

In our highway tests, Vega has been getting gas mileage in the neighborhood of the little imports, which isn't a bad neighborhood.

Yet unlike your average little car, ours steps right out when you step on the gas.

The engine is a specially designed overhead cam four with a lightweight aluminum alloy block. It turns slowly and quietly at turnpike speeds, with power to spare.

Disc brakes are standard in the front. So are bucket seats, except on the truck.

How we doing so far?

Numbers speak louder than words.

The wheelbase is 97 inches.

Total length is just under 170 inches, or nearly four feet shorter than a full-size Chevrolet.

Height of the coupe is just 50 inches, nine inches lower than the leading import.

Width: a nice stable 5 1/2 feet.

Weight: 2,190 lbs. for the sedan.

Engine displacement: 140 cubic inches.

Fuel economy: about 25 mpg, with the standard engine and transmission, in our highway tests.

Horsepower: 90. You can order 110, (80 and 93 hp, SAE Net.)

Seating capacity: 4 adults.

What it all adds up to is a lot of little car.

Three cars and a truck.

Vega turned out so well that we couldn't turn out just one.

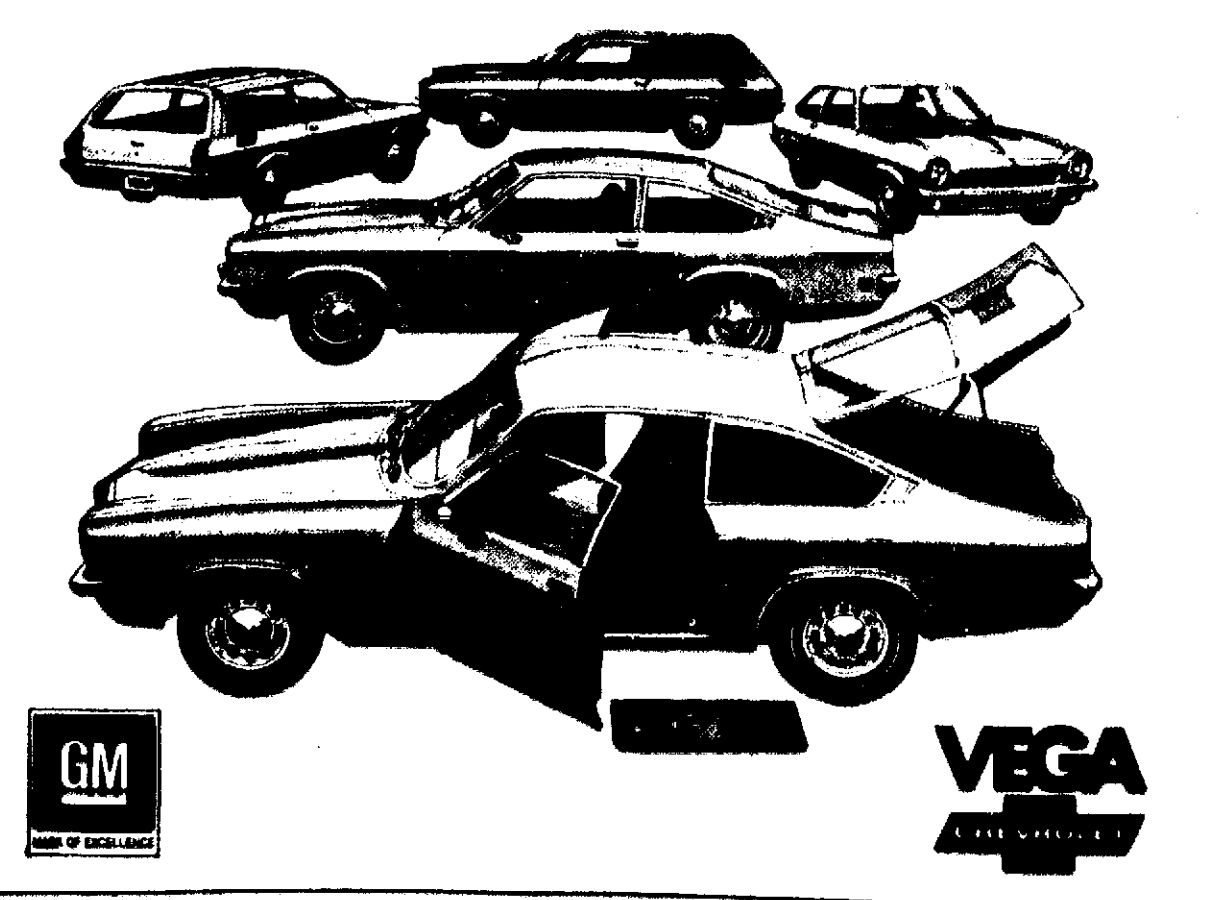

So we're turning out four: the sporty little hatchback coupe shown open and closed in the foreground below; the sedan, on the right; the Kammback wagon, on the left; and the little panel truck, in the rear.

Oh, and a special GT version of the coupe and wagon which we'll show you later on.

September 10th is Opening Day.

All 6,300 Chevrolet dealers are handling Vega, so you shouldn't have to go very far to see and drive one.

Chevy's new little car is open for business. Look into it.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!
This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.
Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED for it, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

THE GOOD KIDS -
Dear Helen:
The letter from "Concerned Teen" who wanted to know how she could help make a better world, prompted me to write.
Your answer was good. There is a wonderful quiet majority of young people who are anxious to do something for the good of mankind. May I pass along a few examples I've heard or seen lately?

Our neighborhood had about 18 girls who were bored with summer loafing. So they asked their pastors for names of families and proceeded to volunteer free help with children or chores. At first the people turned them down, saying they couldn't afford it, but when they learned there were no strings (or charges) attached, many an overburdened mother won a few hours of leisure, and the girls learned much about the joys of giving.
Another group of teens heard of a neighbor who had recently lost her husband. She had very little money and, with five small children, times were difficult. The girls gave baby-sitting so that she could work. They also collected clothes for the children, and they presented a style show - getting a rock group they knew to perform free. The proceeds went to help this family.
"Concerned Teen" would fit beautifully into these groups I've mentioned, but I'll bet there are teen'agers living near her who could help organize similar programs.
When young people start doing something in their own neighborhoods, it's surprising how fast the ideas catch on, until soon the whole town becomes concerned about these problems.
These kids are not only our future leaders but, if we look around, we'll see how many of them are doing great things right now! -AUNT OF A TEEN
Dear Helen:
After reading your column on how teens can get action, we organized "The Lake Savers." We cleaned up beaches (and as Congratulations! If each town had one concerned, "won't quit" group such as yours, we might still win the war against pollution! - H.

Dear Helen:
I was appalled at your advice to "Concerned Teen." This youngster was worried about problems of militarism, hunger, pollution, racism, confusion and pessimism. And you told her to "make a start" by organizing a Junior Active Club and hauling away junk from a beach! How will that expand her consciousness, make her aware of all the oppression around her? And why "Junior," indicating adult advisors are needed?

No 15-year-old is too young to begin to assert his or her full role as a responsible human being involved in the life and death questions of our age. To suggest a superficial clean-up crew is demeaning. Too many of us older folks are hung-up on cleaning and sweeping when the institutions and individuals who make the mess go on unfettered.
You should have urged "C.T." toward more significant issues! - EDWARD
Dear Ed:
Your lengthy letter seems to be saying, "Teens: Organize and fight the establishment."
Young people can do this best with action, and that rules out an egghead study group which "expands the consciousness" and either bores them silly or prods them toward unconstructive criticism, perhaps even rioting.

Sorry, Ed, I don't buy your advice. Too many of us flail helplessly away at the giants when perhaps the giants might see our point if we started small, by cleaning our own backyard. (Please re-read the letter from "The Lake Savers"...See what I mean? -H.)

Perhaps the greatest weapon in the arsenal of the woman liberationist is the use of the deference shown to her by men.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - On the Sunday in July 1969 when astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., were making their descent to the surface of the moon, CBS News had 43 cameras and crews assigned from the eastern coast of Maine to the western tip of Hawaii to cover some of the things happening in the United States.

The best results were shown Tuesday night in a special almost two hours long that was really an inspection of American life today.
Narrator Charles Kuralt with his resounding apocalyptic voice somehow made enterprises such as the production-line manufacture of cheese cake sound as impressive as the moon mission itself.

A program that occasionally ambled when it could have sprinted showed a huge variety in life styles: a wedding parlor in Las Vegas with couples getting married on credit cards; a man in Montana breaking a 3-year-old filly to saddle; a young soldier dashing into the arms of wife or sweetheart upon arriving from Vietnam.

Some shots showed early Sunday revelry in a Chicago slum bar; a middle-class couple in Florida were arguing the respective merits of a Tom Collins and a mint julep.

Perhaps the most effective and certainly the longest segment showed a team of doctors and nurses in a New York hospital working swiftly to save the life of a 4-year-old seized with convulsions.

Through all the program was heard the voices of the men in space reporting the progress of their mission.

While excessively long and frequently long-winded, it was an interesting experiment in a form novel to television.

NBC's preview of the impressive "Civilization" series—"sampling" would be the more accurate description—was composed of bits culled from the 13 one-hour programs produced by the British Broadcasting Co. and soon to be used by the National Educational Network.

The series essentially is an illustrated series of lectures on 1,600 years of Western culture art, architecture, paintings, letter and music. The camera work is superb—cathedrals, palaces, paintings and landscapes were shown lovingly and leisurely. The commentary by Kenneth Clark, a British historian, was tremendous learned yet witty and informal.

A 13-hour seminar on Western civilization may not be every TV viewer's cup of tea, but those who enjoy that sort of thing and even students watching on assignment, may find it exciting.

Complaints Pour Into Census Bureau

By JEM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Complaints of several hundred cities that the 1970 census count is short—particularly in the slums—will get an extensive congressional hearing next week.

Leadoff witnesses are New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, who says a sixth of the New Yorkers spot checked were not counted, and Census Director George H. Brown, who says he thinks the census will prove to be the most accurate in U.S. history.

Chairman Charles H. Wilson, D-Calif., announced Tuesday his House census subcommittee hearing on the nationwide count last April 15 will begin Tuesday.

Wilson has asked the Census Bureau to be ready to answer complaints of New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Birmingham that their inner cities were undercounted and to complaints of several hundred smaller cities that their tallies were short.

Some officials of the major cities attribute the alleged slum undercount to people hiding from census takers because they were violating housing ordinances or welfare laws or evading the draft.

Some small cities stated their evidence indicates a larger population. Others contended blocks of citizens were credited to the surrounding county rather than to the city.

But Census Director Brown told newsmen last week that in all cases in which a city has conducted its own count it found even fewer residents than the census takers.

He said the Census Bureau's own rechecks, involving 6.5 million persons, discovered only 4,200 who had been missed the first time around.

Few Thought Bumpers Could Win

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

The results of the first primary on Aug. 26 foreshadowed the Faubus defeat, but few believed — few but the Bumpers band of faithful.

And, perhaps, Orval E. Faubus.

Hours before the polls closed on Tuesday's runoff election, Faubus began preparation of a statement in which he conceded defeat in his bid for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Predictions had been scarce. Would Faubus, historically strong in the outlying areas, cruise once more to victory? Could Bumpers, the self-styled "fresh face" for government, really win? Few were saying.

The nearest thing to a forecast came in the report by some news media that the race was a tossup.

But it wasn't.

Bumpers, 45, jumped from about 19 per cent of the vote in the first primary (85,509 votes) to about 58 per cent in the runoff.

Faubus, 60, led the eight-man ticket in the first primary with 36 per cent of the vote (156,578) and mustered on a little more, 41 per cent, in the runoff.

The attempted political comeback of the six-term former governor was a shambles at the feet of a Bumpers' triumph.

Faubus issued his concession of defeat Tuesday night and told newsmen he had set to work on it at an early hour because he had had a foreboding of loss.

The loss proved to be of staggering proportions.

How did Bumpers increase his own vote strength by 170,000 while Faubus' grew by only 25,000?

A completely definitive explanation is unlikely ever, but something may be learned from one small box, the Little Texas box in Scott County.

The box is famous in Arkansas elections for being one of the first reported each campaign year, although it seldom sets any meaningful trend.

On Aug. 25, the box gave eight votes to Faubus and three to one of the also-rans, Bill G. Wells of Hermitage.

During the campaign, Faubus and Wells had sniped at each other over which of them was the first and hardest with opposition to racial busing.

When Little Texas reported in the runoff, the tally was eight votes for Faubus, three for Bumpers.

Perhaps those were the same three that had gone to Wells earlier, although Wells and Bumpers were as distant philosophically as any two candidates in the race. In such a case, the votes might be classified as anti-Faubus balloting.

Perhaps, however, the Wells votes joined the Faubus column, but Bumpers' runoff campaigning had peeled three votes away from Faubus' Aug. 25 showing.

No one may ever know, but the thinking early today among political observers was that one or both of those patterns took place in large scale across the state Tuesday.

For example, Bumpers carried 11 counties in the first primary. He held onto those and picked up 44 more in the runoff, a total of 55, precisely the number in which Faubus had led on Aug. 25.

The counties that stayed with Bumpers were Benton, Crawford, Franklin (his home county), Greene, Logan, Pope, Randolph, Scott, Sebastian, Washington and Yell.

In the first primary, Wells carried Bradley County, his home, but Bumpers took it on Tuesday despite Wells' endorsement of Faubus.

Robert C. Compton of El Dorado took his home county, Union, by a 2-1 margin over the rest of the field combined on Aug. 25 and endorsed Faubus after being eliminated. Nevertheless, Bumpers carried the county by a narrow margin.

The third-place finisher on Aug. 25 was Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell and he mustered the most votes in a half-dozen counties, then endorsed Bumpers, who carried all of those counties on Tuesday.

But holding his original 11 counties and picking up those of the also-rans would have given Bumpers only 20, leaving 55 to Faubus. Bumpers, instead, managed to carry 35 counties Tuesday after Faubus had led in them on Aug. 25.

The first primary balloting had indicated that such a development was likely.

The indicator was in the fact that Bumpers had a solid fighting chance in at least 49 counties—while he led in only 11, he was second in 13 and third in 25.

Bumpers did no worse than sixth in any county in the first primary, and the results in those counties Tuesday illustrate the turnaround he achieved. They were:

Union County, which he carried by about a 2-1 margin.

Crittenden County, which he

Other Means of Travel Is Urged

By ROBERT A. DOBNIK
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The armed forces, concerned over the growing number of airline hijackings, have urged top brass and other servicemen with knowledge of classified or sensitive information to avoid commercial flight and find other means of travel.

The Army, Navy and Air Force, in separate but similar directives, recently advised personnel to take trains, buses or other means of surface transportation if they are unable to catch military flights in areas where hijackings are possible.

"This could be almost any-carried by a few hundred votes. Lafayette County, which he fell just 195 votes short of carrying.

His big strength came in three individual counties on Tuesday. In Pulaski, he got 33,419 votes compared to 10,208 in the first primary; in Sebastian he got 13,880 compared to 8,020; and in Washington he got 9,244 compared to 4,824.

where by the way these hijackings are occurring," said one Pentagon official.

The new directives surfaced in the wake of three hijackings and one unsuccessful attempt by Arab terrorists Sunday.

The Pentagon is reluctant to discuss the new rules for military personnel. But all Navy and Marine commands have been given special procedures for their personnel to follow if they can't avoid commercial flights. The other services have spelled out similar procedures.

A directive from the chief of naval operations advises wearing civilian clothes and the carrying of identification such as a civilian driver's license so sailors will not tip off their military status. Also, any classified documents are to be in sealed envelopes.

In the past, military officials on hijacked flights to Cuba were separated from civilian passengers, the directive noted. However, those officials in civilian clothes carrying civilian identification were permitted to remain with the other passengers.

There have been no reports of sealed envelopes being opened by the Cubans despite close inspection of the passengers' personal documents, according to the directive.

Tax-Boosting Plan Under Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's tax-boosting proposals to reduce a growing federal deficit get their first public scrutiny today from the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

As lead-off witness on the first day's hearings, Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy will argue for the two presidential proposals—a new tax on the lead additive in gasoline and a speedup in estate and gift tax collections.

The revenue-raisers, estimated at $1.6 billion in fiscal 1971 for the lead levy and $1.5 billion for the one-shot windfall under the speedup plan, do not come close to covering the deficit now generally foreseen for fiscal 1971.

Kennedy himself has acknowledged the deficit will exceed the official administration estimate of $1.3 billion. Most experts use much higher red-ink figures, and Rep. George P. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, has warned that it will reach $13 billion to $20 billion "unless revenue nues are materially increased or spending drastically reduced."

Wednesday, September 9, 1970

Nevertheless Nixon's lead tax proposal has stirred little enthusiasm in Congress, either as a revenue-raiser or as an anti-pollution weapon.

The White House in announcing the proposal months ago said the tax would discourage the use of lead in high-performance motor fuels and thus curb the output of pollutants from automotive exhausts.

Critics have argued that it would either be inflationary—adding about 2.3 cents to the average cost of each gallon of gasoline—or, if it eliminated the use of lead additives, would fall as a revenue-raiser.

The Ways and Means Committee also will consider Nixon's request for another extension of the excise taxes on telephone service until Jan. 1, 1972. This perennial proposal, considered sure of adoption, would prevent a revenue loss of $650 million in fiscal 1971 and twice that much in fiscal 1972.

The estate and gift tax proposal would not alter the rates or structure of those taxes. A general overhaul of the two taxes is under study by Ways and Means, but the committee is not expected to produce any recommendations for specific changes this year.

Rice Figures Team Can Compete

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — It has been seven years since Rice had a winning football season. But this year, say the Southwest Conference team members, they can put it together. "Size, strength, depth and speed. We've got 'em all," said tailback Mike Spruill, talking to sportswriters on the annual fall SWC tour of training camps. And cornerback Mike Tyler says, "The difference this year is experience and confidence. Now we know the man across the scrimmage line isn't any tougher than we are and we can whip 'em. We're as good as Texas and Arkansas. All we gotta do is put our mind to it." But head coach Bo Hagan, who has been coaching a few years, isn't ready to be quite that brash. "We'll be competitive with everyone in the league except Texas and Arkansas," he told the writers Tuesday. "I stay healthy this should be the best of the four teams I've had. Last year, the Owls had 11 starting sophomores, but this year just one will probably be starting the season. A number of injuries, some carryovers from last season, others the result of spring and fall mishaps, have struck the Owls. But Hagan feels the adaptability of many of his players can overcome some of the problems. "When a first stringer goes out it does necessitate moves, Hagan said. "But we feel good athletes can play more than one position."

Gary Butler may be the lone sophomore to answer the opening kickoff with VMI this year. Big and skilled, the former state discus champ is good enough to fit into the lineup at several places, but for the past 10 days has been sidelined with a pulled tendon. At quarterback, the Owls expect to start Philip Wood. "There won't be a better running quarterback in the Southwest Conference than Phil," Hagan said. "But for us to function the passing game must be effective." Although Wood completed only 41 per cent of his passes last year, he threw 250 passes per day the past summer to improve his accuracy. Rice has added dropback passing to its option running but tailback Stahle Vincent's slow recovery from a hernia operation clouds the picture. Vincent will be ready for the opener but his speed has been cut. Spruill, a fine inside runner with power and balance can also be called on. Fullback Mike Phillips lettered at tight end last year, but the switch wasn't completely new since he played wingback at Wichita Falls.

At flanker, the Owls are looking at walk-on Tom Clanton, who joined the team after leaving the Air Force Academy and Macon Hughes. Split end Bob Brown, one of the squad's better athletes, catches the ball in a crowd and has 4.6 speed. On the basis of his play in Saturday's scrimmage, San Antonio's Donnie Johnson looks like the starting center, Hagan said.

Wait Richardson and Paul Strahan will be doing the blocking with Ron Waudemon, who is now suffering from a chipped bone in the knee, expected back sometime during the season. Brownie Wheelless and Bill Batchelor are the offensive tackles for the Owls now with Dan Carlton, the strongest man on the squad, also vying for a starting post at that spot.

"Our defense will be better because of speed and experience," Hagan said. "The line is improved and there are experienced people with good speed in the secondary." Senior Roger Collins and Butch Robinson are the ends the writers Tuesday. "I and Mike Malone and Randy Alfrod fill the tackle spots. Hagan is also waiting for tackle Roger Roitsch to recover from injuries. "Roitsch is an All-America football player if we have a winning record," Hagan said. "He's the best pass rusher we have and he has size, speed and temperament."

At linebackers the Owls have Monte Hutchinson, Dale Grounds and Randy Lee. The coaches say they are consistent and tough. Cornerback belongs to Mike Tyler and David Keys while Bucky Allshouse and Chris Hale compose the last line of defense at safety. Punting will be handled by Allshouse, who had a 38-yard average last year, with soph Mike Williams in charge of extra points and field goals. If they can hold off on injuries, the Owls are looking for a .500 or better season, a figure they haven't been above since 1963.

Murphy Goes to 14th Place Moneywise
NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Murphy, who collected $20,000 in winning last weekend's Greater Hartford Open, climbed from 20th to 14th place Tuesday among golf's money winners. Murphy boosted his 1970 earnings on the tour to $97,251. Billy Casper, with four tournament victories, continues to hold first place with $144,468, the Professional Golfers Association announced. Jack Nicklaus, winner of two tournaments, was second with $139,544; followed by Bruce Crampton, with $135,344; Lee Trevino with $125,004 and Dick

Major Hooples

for games of Saturday, September 12

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Peerless Prognosticator
Egad, friends, the moment of truth is rapidly approaching for the collegiate football squads, their coaches, fellow students, parents and friends!

On Saturday afternoon 68 of the major college teams will get their 1970 baptism under fire. And the firing—heh-heh—promises to be hot and heavy!

It is with a great deal of pleasure I now report to you that all the Hoopie System field agents have completed their studies and funneled the resulting information to our computers in time to have it properly programmed before the season kicks off. Some of our predictions will amaze you.

Two of the big games on opening day are intersectional affairs with defending Rose Bowl winner Southern California invading Birmingham, Alabama, to take on the Crimson Tide and Arkansas hosting powerful Stanford.

Bear Bryant's 'Bama Boys will give it a good go but my calculations show the Trojans of John McKay will prevail, 33-22. Picking a winner in the Arkansas-Stanford meeting was a difficult chore. With Bill Montgomery at the controls for the Razorbacks and Jim Plunkett directing the Indians attack it should be a TV night spectacular. I predict a thrilling, last period victory for Montgomery and his mates, 27-22.

The military academies—Army, Navy and Air Force—will launch their seasons in

Football Forecast

victorious fashion. Watch for Army to level Holy Cross, 36-12; Navy to sail past Colgate, 17-10, and Air Force to smash Idaho, 31-12!

Most of the favored teams should prevail Saturday, but the day will not be without a few surprises. The Hoopie Formula has pegged a trio of upsets for you. The first shocker will find South Carolina edging 10-point favorite Georgia Tech by a 14-8 count. Equally as astonishing will be Kentucky's 19-17 triumph over North Carolina and Tulane's hard-won 24-21 victory over Texas Tech. Remember you read these first in Hoopie—har-rumph!

Two contests of more than passing interest to football scholars pit Oklahoma against Southern Methodist and West Virginia against William and Mary. I look for the Oklahoma Sooners to win a bruising battle from SMU by a 21-14 score and for the West Virginia Mountaineers to spank William and Mary, 35-15. These West Virginia lads will bear watching, folks, as they are on their way to big things. Now go on with the forecast:

- Air Force 31, Idaho 12
- Southern Cal. 33, Alabama 22 (N)
- Arkansas 27, Stanford 22 (N)
- Army 36, Holy Cross 12
- Buffalo 22, Ball State 15
- Western Mich. 28, Central Mich. 7
- Clemson 26, Citadel 13
- Dayton 42, Xavier 11 (N)
- Florida 37, Duke 12 (N)
- Florida St. 51, Louisville 6 (N)
- So. Carolina 14, Georgia Tech 8
- Wash. State 17, Kansas 13
- Kansas St. 9, Utah State 8
- Maryland 30, Villanova 20
- Miss. State 22, Okla. State 20 (N)
- Navy 17, Colgate 10
- Nebraska 28, Wake Forest 16
- N. Mex. St. 35, Colo. St. U. 27 (N)
- Kentucky 19, No. Carolina 17
- California 26, Oregon 20 (N)
- UCLA 41, Oregon St. 17

Predictions are for games of Sept. 12

- N.C. State 33, Richmond 12 (N)
- San Jose St. 8, UC Santa Barb. 6
- Oklahoma 21, SMU 14 (N)
- Southern Miss. 37, SW La. 0 (N)
- Texas A&M 17, Wichita St. 10 (N)
- TCU 21, UT Arlington 7 (N)
- Tulane 24, Texas Tech 21 (N)
- Toledo 38, East Carolina 27 (N)
- UT El Paso 17, Pacific 10 (N)
- Vanderbilt 24, UT Chattanooga 8 (N)
- VMI 42, Furman 22

San Diego Must Improve Its Defense

By RON ROACH

Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Chargers must improve their defense and combat a rugged schedule in this year's National Football League warfare.

"We've got the offense," says Coach Charlie Waller, "but it can't do it alone."

The offense is built around the passing of John Hadl to class receivers and the running of Dick Post.

The Chargers, 4-1 after Waller took the coaching reins from General Manager Sid Gillman last year, fell down on pass defense, ranking ninth in that category among 10 teams, despite 31 interceptions.

Following Oakland's successful example, the Chargers have injected speed into the defensive secondary.

They traded away veteran Kenny Graham and put tough and fast Jim Tolbert in the safety spot alongside Jim Hill. The young yet experienced cornerbacks are Bobby Howard and Joe Beauchamp.

"We're going to have to cover receivers closely and get to the quarterback with our front four," said Waller, emphasizing quickness on the line.

End Steve DeLong tackled quarterbacks 17 times last year. Others were less successful. Russ Washington's 6-foot-6, 300-pound frame was moved to the offensive line because he couldn't catch quarterbacks as a rookie defensive tackle.

Newcomers include Joe Owens, a quick defensive end obtained from New Orleans and tackle Tom Williams, No. 2 draft choice from University of California at Davis.

Linebacking is solid with Rick Redman backed up by Bob Babich in the middle, flanked by Pete Barnes and Jeff Staggs.

"A big plus for us is a healthy John Hadl," said Waller. Hadl hurt his arm last year in a pre-season collision with the Los Angeles Rams' Deacon Jones.

At one point in the summer drills the Chargers were without both their All-Pro performers, wide receiver Lance Alworth and guard Walt Sweeney. But both ended brief retirements with settlement of contract disputes.

Alworth, who has caught more than 1,000 yards worth of passes a record seven straight years, teams with Gary Garrison to give San Diego dangerous outside receivers.

The Chargers were hurt when Garrison was sidelined four games last year. They were 8-2 in games he played. As insurance, the No. 1 draft choice is Walker Gillette of Richmond.

If the defense jells and the offense gets more help from fullbacks Brad Hubbert and Gene Foster and tight end Willie Frazier, the Chargers may survive the schedule and get out of their third-place rut.

Top Expansion Draft Choice Quits Braves

By DOUG TODD

Associated Press Sports Writer
NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — The opening of the Buffalo Braves' National Basketball Association training camp was marred Tuesday by the desertion of a top expansion draft choice to a rival league.

Ray Scott, a 6-foot-9 center obtained from the Baltimore Bullets by the new NBA club, fled to the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association.

The Squires announced Tuesday that Scott had signed a long-term contract with them.

Scott said he left the Braves because "the way things were going I knew I wouldn't get a chance to play on a winning team for quite some time."

The Braves said their lawyers were looking into Scott's signing with the ABA club. He was reported to have two years to go on a three-year pact with the NBA.

Sooners Have Talent, Not Experience

By DOUG TODD

Associated Press Sports Writer
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma's new-look Sooners, long on talent but short on experience, are hoping to grow up in a hurry in Dallas' Cotton Bowl Saturday night.

The Sooners will pit their triple-option offense and their new pro-type defense against Southern Methodist and Chuck Hixson. It promises to be a stern test for the fuzzy-cheeked Oklahomans.

The depth chart at the beginning of practice this week listed a total of only four seniors on the top offensive and defensive units. There were 10 juniors, six sophomores and two junior college transfers.

But the youngsters are big and fast, and Oklahoma fans are beginning to get excited about them.

"We have some great talent," says Coach Chuck Fairbanks, "the best and the most speed we have had. It's just a question of getting it all together."

Heading the list is junior quarterback Jack Mildren. A schoolboy star at Abilene, Tex., Mildren started every game as a sophomore and rolled up 1,004 yards running and passing. He threw 10,000 passes this summer to strengthen his arm, and looks to be on the verge of stardom.

A host of fleet running backs and receivers will be taking the handoffs and throws from Mildren. Among them are Roy Bell,

We know you have questions about anti-pollution gasolines.

- 1. Will taking lead out of gasoline help clean up the air?
Yes, although it won't do the whole job. But it will get rid of the lead particulates that escape from your exhaust. That's why we've taken most of the lead out of new Big Plus.
- 2. Why not take out all the lead?
We could have made a totally lead-free gasoline, of course. But engine testing shows that some lead is needed to prevent possible valve damage. So we left half a cc of lead per gallon in Big Plus.
- 3. Do you have to settle for low octane in an anti-pollution gasoline?
Not necessarily. Big Plus has a research octane of 96, high enough so that 9 out of 10 drivers can use it without worrying about engine knock.

- 4. What about the other kinds of pollution?
To reduce hydrocarbon emissions and other pollutants, we doubled the amount of engine-cleaning detergent in our new gasoline. So Big Plus cleans up your carburetor and helps keep your engine running clean.
  - 5. Is an anti-pollution gasoline expensive?
Not Big Plus. We priced it below premium. And since it cleans deposits from your carburetor, it cuts fuel waste and improves your mileage, too. That's another money-saver.
- New Big Plus from Esso. It's the lowest-lead, highest-octane gasoline for the money, anywhere.
- Ask for it where you see the Esso sign.
- And help your car run clean.

Hawkins Foo Fails in Conway Co.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Prosecutor Jeff Mobley, swept into office in 1962 as a foe of Sheriff Marlin Hawkins of Conway County, failed in his bid for Democratic nomination to a fifth term in the 5th Judicial Circuit in Tuesday's runoff election where he was stamped with a pro-Hawkins label.

The winner was Alex G. Streett, 31, an attorney, carried the home county, Pope, by a whopping margin of 5,871 to 2,319 for the 44-year-old Mobley in complete but unofficial returns.

The totals for the five-county district, complete but unofficial, were 18,767 votes for Streett and 14,062 for Mobley.

The first primary Aug. 25 augured defeat for Mobley as he wound up second in a three-way race. Andre McNeil of Conway was eliminated in that contest.

A former FBI agent, Mobley had attempted to link Streett with Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, the Republican nominee for a third term as governor, but Streett said there was no connection.

Streett has a brother, Bruce, who is employed by Rockefeller's public relations staff. Another brother, Julian, is a state representative from Camden. Julian is a Democrat.

There is no Republican candidate for the position.

In other district races:

HOUSE

District 22, Pulaski and Perry counties, Position 11—complete but unofficial returns — Bob Traylor, North Little Rock, 29,132; Odell Kuykendall, Gravel Ridge, 18,448.

District 22, Pulaski and Perry counties, Position 13—complete but unofficial returns — Art Givens, Sherwood, 27,457; John Ward, North Little Rock, 20,060.

District 38, Miller County, Position 2—complete but unofficial returns—Charles Wade Jr., Texarkana, 3,745; David J. Potter, Texarkana, 3,358.

SENATE

District 2, Washington County—Complete but unofficial returns—Dr. Morris Henry, Fayetteville, 6,648; David J. Burleson, Fayetteville, 5,758.

District 3, Madison, Crawford, Franklin and Johnson counties—114 boxes out of 117 — Darrell Johnson, Van Buren, 10,398; Ken Ragge, Van Buren, 7,990.

District 16, Independence and White counties—88 boxes out of 91 — Bill Walmsley, Batesville, 9,246; James Parrish, Searcy, 7,888.

District 24, Craighead, Mississippi and Poinsett counties—complete but unofficial — Tom Watson of Monette, 15,572, and Norman Wimpy of Jonesboro, 13,066.

Objections Filed in Zone Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Objections to the Little Rock School Board's proposed attendance zone plan for the junior high schools for the 1971-72 school year were filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court.

John W. Walker, an attorney for the Negro Plaintiffs in the Little Rock school desegregation case, filed the objections.

"The plan is insulting, demeaning and degrading to black pupils and their parents," Walker said.

Walker said the plan "proposes to provide a different kind of education for predominantly black students who live east of a certain point than that which other pupils, white and black, receive in other sections of the city."

Walker said the plan "continues to place the burden on black poor pupils to desegregate the schools."

The Hempstead County Soil and Water Conservation District won first place honors in the annual Goodyear Soil Conservation Awards Program for 1969. All soil and water conservation districts in Arkansas competed for the award.

At a recent directors' meeting of the Hempstead County Soil and Water Conservation District hosted by George F. Brown, Mr. H.M. Caruthers of the Memphis Goodyear district presented a Certificate of Merit award to each district director in recognition for the accomplishments of the Hempstead County in soil and water conservation and to David Cummings of Patmos for being selected outstanding farmer of the year for the state of Arkansas.

After the formal presentation, Jim Crippen, manager of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company local store, offered his congratulations.

Part of the recognition will be an all expense paid trip to and tour of Goodyear Farms in Litchfield Park, Arizona. Mr. David Cummings and H. Moss Rowe have been selected to receive this award.

Hempstead County Soil and Water Conservation District won second place honors in the Goodyear awards program in 1963 and first place in 1964.

Settlement Pressed in Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration pressed today for an 11th hour wage settlement to avert a scheduled nationwide strike of some 500,000 railroad workers one minute after midnight tonight.

"We could have a strike," said Assistant Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery of the dispute between the nation's rail industry and four AFL-CIO unions.

"But they've each said they could postpone it if there is some meaningful progress," Usery said of the union negotiators.

He declined to say whether President Nixon would invoke his power under federal labor law to delay any strike for 60 days.

Usery conceded there was no progress in four hours of government sponsored talks Tuesday, but added "that meeting was very worthwhile. I think it cleared the air."

He called both sides back into negotiations today.

But Harold Crotty, president of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, said after Tuesday's fruitless talks "We're further apart than when we started."

Retorted chief industry negotiator John P. Hiltz: "No, we couldn't be."

Winner Tired But Appears Confident

By DALA MCKINSEY Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — For a victorious darkhorse, Dale Bumpers' demeanor was quiet and reserved as those around him cheered, shouted and stomped their feet.

Their candidate had just won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in a stunning upset of former Gov. Orval E. Faubus in Tuesday's runoff election.

Appearing tired but relieved and confident, Bumpers said he was "overwhelmed" at the victory and that he was surprised "to some extent" at the margin of his victory. Most others in the state were in a state of near disbelief at the thrashing delivered Faubus.

He attributed at least part of the big margin to his between-primaries efforts in the southern part of the state, but said this was only because his campaign had not taken him there previously.

He also attributed it to working hard "right up to the end." He said he did not believe in the "peaking theory," and that he believed he never peaked because he had continued to campaign hard until the last day.

With no show of emotion beyond the usual smiles, Bumpers conceded he could not express his "true feelings." He thanked those who supported him.

"I have not offered the people instant solutions," he said, "no

Reform Group Vowing All Out Fight

By JOHN CHADWICK Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate opponents of a Constitutional amendment to abolish the electoral college and provide for the election of the president by direct, popular vote are vowing a long, all-out fight.

The far-reaching proposal, already approved by the House and endorsed by President Nixon, came under heavy attack in the opening debate Tuesday from Nebraska Republicans Carl T. Curtis and Roman L. Hruska.

Curtis said he presumed the issue would be before the Senate "for weeks and months."

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hoped for a vote in two weeks.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief Senate sponsor of the direct election plan, does not now claim a two-thirds majority necessary for passage. But he predicted the necessary votes will be obtained.

Even if the amendment clears Congress, Hruska said, it will never be ratified by three-fourths of the states because it would mean a loss of voting power for 34 states in presidential elections.

"The small states will be heavily penalized and degraded in their political influence," Hruska said. "I will do everything I can to make the public understand this. It will have to be debated at great length."

Each state, regardless of its population, now has a minimum of three electoral votes. The number of electoral votes corresponds to a state's representation in the Senate and the House.

Bayh called this one of the flaws in the present electoral college system but argued the most fundamental defect is that it does not guarantee the election of the popular vote winner.

pie in the sky."

Instead, he said he offered a common sense, objective approach to problems and he believed that it was that approach that the people responded to.

As for the trend Arkansas' politics may take as result of his victory, Bumpers said he hoped his victory "had given a lot of people renewed courage."

"I want to be the kind of governor every section of Arkansas can be proud of," Bumpers said. "As many men are just as concerned as I am—this is a victory for you, the people."

Commenting on his hectic schedule he said there were times that he thought his staff was "trying to kill the candidate" rather than get him elected.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Arteriosclerosis Is Gradual Process

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—Does anything in one's diet contribute to hardening of the arteries? What are the symptoms? Is there any way to prevent it?

A—Abnormally high levels of such normal constituents of the blood as cholesterol and triglycerides cause arteriosclerosis or hardening of the arteries. A diet in the saturated fatty acids (found chiefly in egg yolk and meat fats) will cause an increase in these blood levels.

Arteriosclerosis is a very gradual process that starts at birth but progresses faster in some persons than in others and, in a given person, faster in some vital organs than in others. The symptoms depend on the organs involved. In the brain it may cause little strokes; in the heart, coronary heart disease and in the kidneys it is a forerunner of severe hypertension (high blood pressure).

In addition to keeping your cholesterol level down you should avoid smoking, becoming overweight and, if your blood pressure is high, get your doctor to prescribe an antihypertensive drug.

Q—My father died of hardening of the arteries and now my brother, 55, has it. Is this hereditary?

A—Hereditary does play a part in causing this disease, but by avoiding the other causative factors you can greatly improve your chances of escaping it.

Q—Will lecithin or rattlesnake venom help a person who has hardening of the arteries?

A—Lecithin will help to lower a high blood cholesterol level but large doses of niacin are more effective for this purpose. Although rattlesnake venom will cause a sharp drop in blood pressure, it is not recommended as a treatment of arteriosclerosis.

Q—I have hardening of the arteries. Is it safe for me to take calcium lactate tablets?

A—You may take this drug in the amount recommended by your doctor to maintain the strength of your bones with perfect safety.

Q—I have arteriosclerosis and am taking Roniacol. Is this the best treatment for it? Can arteriosclerosis cause headaches?

A—Arteriosclerosis is one of many causes of headache. Roniacol is often given to persons with this disease to improve the general circulation.

By HELEN HENNESSY

NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The question is no longer WHO will wear the midi. It's HOW you'll wear it. And one of the most important parts of the total look will be what you put on your feet.

Stanley Philippon, a member of the Shoe Designer Guild, the group which sets the pace of the shoe industry in the United States believes that whether the hem stops at the knee or under, the new look creates an opportunity to offer a variety of feminine styles in shoes.

"The new shoe silhouette is elongated," said Philippon. "Toes are a soft oval and heels are higher."

"Design stays the same for both day and evening shoes this time around. The fabric makes the important difference," he added.

The return of the Oxford tie, ghillie and brogue for daytime in brushed leathers, calfskin and reptiles repeats at night in satins, velvets and brocades. The wrapped shoe, the hi-rise front, the shelled-out pump, the ballet slipper, the sandal, the espadrille, the sabot, the T-strap, the sling back, the moccasin, the costume shoe—all are in evidence in an array of suedes, reptiles, patent, smooth and brushed leathers and in velvet, moire, embroidered silks, panne velvets and gold and silver kidskins.

There are boots that end at the ankle, mid-calf, under the knee and up the thigh. They are buckled, slipped on, elasticized and laced. And they come in reptiles, leathers, furs, satins and velvets. The stocking boot and the gaiter are also in the picture for fall. But we do not live in the new hem

All About Drivers

Lydel Sims, columnist for the Commercial Appeal, tells about a friend who, after years of driving on Memphis streets, has distilled the wisdom he has acquired in the process. Lydel continues in the following paragraphs.

He has come up with four conclusions, which I am happy to pass along for the guidance and edification of new drivers. Observe:

1—Middle-aged ladies wearing hats always drive in the center lane. They never exceed 20 mph and always turn left without signaling.

2—Cars with Republican bumper stickers go faster than cars with Democratic bumper stickers.

3—The fastest drivers are repairmen in pickup trucks. This is strange because repairmen are always late arriving.

4—The smaller the car, the more reckless the driver. This is known as the Small Car Suicide Syndrome. The world's most dangerous drivers are blond secretaries in VWs who are 10 minutes late for work.

Casual inquiry has produced the following additional pearls, which I trust we may supplement from time to time in the future.

5—The driver who pulls onto the highway directly in front of you because he is clearly in a hurry will not shift out of low gear during the 4.3 miles before he turns off.

6—Nine out of ten tailgaters are small, tense men in eyeglasses who are dominated by their wives.

7—When two lanes of cars are being directed to proceed alternately, your lane will always be halted at the moment you reach the front.

8—The number of idiot drivers in any given area is directly proportionate to the number of traffic hazards.

9—When your gas gauge shows empty on an expressway it means you are approaching a massive traffic jam that will not be unsnarled for at least 15 minutes. —Paul Buchanan in Batesville Guard

LONDON (AP) — Word reached the Foreign Office that the hijacked BOAC VC10 jetliner with 113 persons aboard landed safely today at the guerrilla-held Dawson's airfield in north Jordan.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) The United States and Britain in twin moves asked today for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council on the current wave of airliner hijackings. The council was expected to meet at 3 p.m. EDT.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A British jetliner with 76 persons aboard was hijacked in the Middle East today. Palestinian guerrillas threatened to blow up the aircraft when it landed at Beirut airport unless it was provided with fuel to fly on to another destination.

The plane later left Beirut amid speculation it was headed for the Jordanian desert airstrip where two other captive planes were under guerrilla guard.

This was the fifth hijacking attack this week by Palestine guerrillas. The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine assumed responsibility for today's incident, as it had for the others.

British Overseas Airways Corp. VC10 airliner was hijacked and ordered to fly to Beirut shortly after it took off from Bahrain in the Persian Gulf. The airline said 66 passengers and 10 crew members were aboard.

Representatives of the International Red Cross were negotiating for the freeing of two other Western airliners and 178 hostages held by guerrillas on a desert airstrip in Jordan.

BOAC officials said Arab guerrillas captured the control tower of Beirut airport and instructed the British jet "to land, refuel and fly on to a further destination."

Later a fuel truck drove up to the plane, which had been on a Bombay-London flight.

It was believed in Beirut that the Popular Front grabbed the British plane to put pressure on the British government for the release of Leila Khaled, the 24-year-old guerrilla held in London.

Struck and Killed on I-30

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ira Alfred Goza, 18, of Little Rock was struck and killed Tuesday night on a service road near Interstate 30 south of the Pulaski-Saline County line.

Authorities said the youngster was apparently walking on the road when struck by a pickup truck.

Fighting in Middle East Steps Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Palestinian guerrillas and Jordanian soldiers battled for the second day in northern Jordan today following the collapse of a brief cease-fire concluded Tuesday between the guerrillas and the Amman government.

The Central Committee of the Palestine Guerrilla Organizations repudiated the cease-fire early today, charging that after it was supposed to have taken effect, Jordanian troops attacked commando outposts near Irbid, killed 40 guerrillas and wounded many more.

In retaliation, sources in Amman said, the guerrillas laid siege to the Jordanian army garrison at Irbid. Heavy fighting raged through the night and continued this morning, the informants said.

Tanks and heavy artillery of the Jordanian army's 40th Brigade intervened at dawn to relieve the besieged garrison. Headquarters of four guerrilla groups in Irbid were put under heavy bombardment, the sources reported.

The Guerrillas' central committee claimed Jordanian troops mutilated the bodies of commandos killed in the fighting. Sources in Amman said the guerrillas paraded the bodies through the streets of Irbid sparking wild public demonstrations.

One group of demonstrators reportedly stormed into the city's police headquarters and killed the police chief.

Scattered shooting also was heard in downtown Amman and in the area of the Jordan Intercontinental Hotel, the temporary home of the 125 women and children released by the guerrillas holding two hijacked airliners and 178 hostages at a desert airstrip northeast of the capital.

Sinyard in Narrow Win Over Griffin

Hempstead County followed the statewide trend in Tuesday Democratic Primary election by voting overwhelmingly for Dale Bumpers foe of veteran politician Orval Faubus. The vote was 3,090 for Bumpers and 2,151 for Faubus.

The situation was about the same in the race for Lieutenant Governor with Riley polling 4,202 votes to 1,600 for Harrell.

Sheriff Jimmie Griffin who has held office for 12 years went down in defeat by the narrow margin of 125 votes. He lost to newcomer Henry Sinyard, an insurance agent who was seeking his first political office. The vote was 3,146 for Sinyard to 3,021 for Griffin.

This was a very close race and only one vote separate the two for a couple of hours before Sinyard gradually pulled away. In the only other local race Ford Ward defeated Hobart Shirley for Constable of DeRoan Township by a vote of 1,805 to 1,515.

Warm, Humid Weather for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Warm and humid weather is expected to continue in Arkansas through Thursday.

Precipitation is expected in the northwest portion of the state late tonight and over the state Thursday.

A cold front moving southward through Nebraska this morning offers some of hope of cooler and drier air for the state by Friday.

Temperatures in the state Tuesday were in the 90s except in a small section of the northwest. Harrison was the coolest spot in the state with a high of 81.

Overnight lows include 67 at Harrison, 73 at Jonesboro, 73 at Pine Bluff, 72 at Texarkana, 72 at El Dorado, 75 at Memphis, 72 at Little Rock and 72 at Fort Smith.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 7 a.m. include .39 at Harrison.

Takes Award in Journalism

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Martin Kirby, a reporter for the Arkansas Democrat, has won the sixth annual business journalism competition at the University of Missouri.

The award was for Kirby's articles on the management problems of Union National Bank of Little Rock during late 1969 and early this year.

The award carries a $1,000 cash prize and a trophy.

Enemy Steps Up Attacks in South

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces have stepped up their attacks in the northern sector of South Vietnam, and the South Vietnamese commander for the area said today that up to 15 enemy regiments are waiting for a chance to advance into the populous coastal lowlands.

In three attacks southeast of Da Nang Tuesday and one to the north, enemy forces killed 38 South Vietnamese troops, three South Vietnamese civilians and one American, and wounded 16 Americans and 49 South Vietnamese. A total of 53 North Vietnamese were reported killed.

The attacks indicated that some North Vietnamese units already had pushed out from the mountains toward the populated region.

The fighting began before dawn when about 200 North Vietnamese overran the Tra Bong District headquarters and a neighboring South Vietnamese Ranger camp 60 miles southeast of Da Nang.

Fifteen hours later and 13 miles to the southeast, North Vietnamese troops fired about 85 mortar shells at an American artillery base called Sinson, then followed up with a ground assault that helicopter gunships and artillery helped beat back.

Enemy troops also attacked a militia outpost less than a mile east of Mo Duc, a district town 18 miles southeast of Quang Ngai City.

North of Da Nang, North Vietnamese troops moving under cover of a mortar barrage attacked a South Vietnamese infantry battalion a mile southwest of embattled Fire Base O'Reilly. But South Vietnamese headquarters said government forces counterattacked and repulsed the enemy.

Asks Watson Chapel Plan Rejection

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Justice Department asked U.S. District Judge Oren Harris Tuesday to reject the Watson Chapel School Board's zoning plan based on a neighborhood school concept.

The board adopted the plan Aug. 25 in response to an order from Harris to achieve a unitary school system.

The Justice Department said the zone lines "reinforce and perpetuate segregation" by assigning 98 per cent of the black pupils to formerly all-black schools and 98 per cent of the white pupils to formerly all-white schools.

The department asked Harris to order the school board to implement "forthwith" a desegregation plan prepared by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

HEW's plan calls for assigning grades one and two to Owen Elementary School, grades three and four to Edgewood Elementary, grades five through nine to Coleman Elementary and High School, and the remaining grades to Watson Chapel High School.

The school board opposed the HEW plan on grounds that it would require additional busing of pupils. The board contended that the neighborhood school system was constitutional.

Newcomer to Politics, Dale Bumpers, Smashes Faubus in Big Upset

Riley Takes Harrell for Lt. Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. Bob C. Riley of Arkadelphia, a political science professor at Ouachita Baptist University, has won the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Riley, 45, crushed his younger opponent, state Rep. James H. Harrell, 33, of Russellville in Tuesday's runoff election.

With 2,672 of 2,696 precincts reported, Riley had 245,685 votes to 176,682 for Harrell.

Riley faces Republican Sterling R. Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock and American party candidate Hubert Blanton of Hughes in the Nov. 3 general election.

One of the chief responsibilities of the lieutenant governor is to preside over the Arkansas Senate.

At his headquarters early today, Riley said his victory and that of Dale Bumpers in the gubernatorial race was proof "that a man with limited financial resources can still aspire to state office."

Riley said that both he and Bumpers had been "virtually unknown" at the outset of the campaign, and that they both had had to rely on personal contacts because of a lack of money.

He called their nominations "one of those rare moments in politics that you read about but seldom see in person."

Riley also expressed optimism about the general election. "The way Republicans have been elected in the past has been through the dissatisfaction of the people with the Democratic candidates, even though the people themselves are Democrats," Riley said. "Both Mr. Bumpers and I are of the people, and I have no doubt whatsoever that we will be able to bring the people back into the Democratic fold where they have really wanted to be all along."

Riley was blinded in one eye and lost some sight in the other during combat on Guam in World War II. He has been mayor of Arkadelphia, a state representative from Little Rock and parliamentarian of the House.

Unknown Gets 58% of the Vote

By ROBERT SHAW Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dark-horse Dale Bumpers, completing a startling dash from political obscurity, swamped former Gov. Orval E. Faubus in Tuesday's runoff election to capture the Democratic nomination for governor.

The smashing triumph over the man who once dominated Arkansas politics sends Bumpers into the Nov. 3 general election against Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and American party candidate Walter Carruth, an East Arkansas farmer.

Virtually unknown outside his small hometown of Charleston two months ago, the 45-year-old lawyer won about 58 per cent of the vote in squelching Faubus' bid to regain the office he held for a record six terms from 1955 to 1967.

With 2,672 of 2,696 precincts counted, Bumpers had 257,385 votes and Faubus 181,089.

Bumpers said he was "overwhelmed" by his victory margin.

"I want to be the kind of governor every section of Arkansas can be proud of," he said. "Many men are just as concerned as I am. This is a victory for you, the people."

Faubus, 60, who said he had a foreboding of defeat, conceded the election in a statement he said he had prepared Tuesday afternoon. "When the tide gets rolling, there's not much you can do about it," he said.

The ex-governor, who had retired from office undefeated, said factors in his loss were support given Bumpers by the "full strength" of the organization of Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and by a large segment of the news media and Bumpers' endorsement by the state AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education.

"To have waged a campaign against such odds with no greater margin of loss is remarkable," he said.

Faubus said that he had rather have tried and lost than to have done nothing about what he said was interference by federal officials in state affairs, which he said was exemplified by the concept of racial busing, and a drift toward lawlessness. His opposition to busing and a call for law and order were major themes of his campaign.

The former governor's 12-year tenure in office was most remembered for his order to the National Guard to prevent nine Negro children from desegregating Little Rock Central High School in 1957. His critics claimed he used the incident to catapult himself into third and successive terms.

Some political observers believed his defeat Tuesday marked the end of his political career. Asked about that, Faubus observed that Winston Churchill and President Nixon had come back after suffering losses, and said, "You might never see me again and then you might see me a great deal. You never know."

Prescott Is Next for the Bobcats

By Bill Moore
Star Sportswriter

Friday night will present the annual rivalry between the Hope Bobcats and the Prescott Curley Wolves and what a battle it should be.

For the Bobcats it will mean trying to get on the winning side for the first time this year and even their mark at 1-1. It will also be a big morale booster and possibly start the Cats on their way to a successful 1970 campaign.

Prescott, on the other hand, will want to keep their present 1-0 record unblemished and they have enough power to do it. After beating Magnet Cove, 27-7 the Curley Wolves will be ready to play and this go-round they're the home team.

The Bobcats only scored two touchdowns while giving up four on various mistakes and penalties against Ashdown. Passing was how they did it, with both scores, and almost another, coming on passes, and they may do it again.

Hope won last year, 27-0, and you can bet the Curley Wolves will be remembering that one with plenty of revenge in their minds.

So far in practice, the Bobcats have been sharpening up on blocks, offense and defense, and learning some things about Prescott's squad.

One thing Hope will need against the Curley Wolves will be field position. Combined with

Australia, U.S. in Quarterfinals

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — It's the U.S. Davis Cup team — coach and players — against Australia leading into the quarterfinals of the U.S. Open Championships, and there's a hint the pendulum may be swinging away from Aussie monopoly of the big time tennis. Among the last eight survivors in the men's singles, there are four Yanks. There are only three Australians, meaning as they are, and a lone New Zealander, unseeded, unnoticed and unfeared.

"Training for the Davis Cup helped us all," said Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., the U.S. coach. "We worked hard. We hit a lot of balls. We shipped ourselves into top physical shape and tuned our games."

It was Ralston, 28, contract pro, once the boy wonder of tennis, who pulled off the greatest coup Tuesday when he ousted Rod Laver of Australia, the defending champion and top-seeded favorite, 7-6, 7-5, 5-7, 4-6, 6-3. "It was my biggest win ever," said Ralston, who ranked No. 1 nationally for three straight years from 1964 through 1966 yet never won a major title.

Ralston was joined later in the quarterfinals by tough, scrappy Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., who was voted the most valuable player in America's Davis Cup victory over West Germany at Cleveland 10 days ago. They play next.

Richey overcame some early rustiness and beat Manuel Santana of Spain, former Wimbledon and U.S. winner, 2-6, 7-6, 7-5, 6-1.

Already in the quarterfinals waiting for them were two other Davis Cup members, Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., who upset Australia's Roy Emerson, and Arthur Ashe Jr. of Richmond, Va., who won the inaugural U.S. Open in 1968.

Today Smith plays Rosewall, the 35-year-old Australian, who once was the best player in the world, and Ashe goes against Wimbledon champion John Newcombe. Newcombe is seeded No. 3 and Rosewall No. 2.

The third Australian, lefty Tony Roche, seeded No. 4, plays Brian Fingleton, the unseeded New Zealander, while Ralston and Richey clash in an all-American match that carries the United States to at least one semifinal.

good ball control the Hope squad could present big problems and the opponents will have problems enough as it is.

The Bobcats need the win in the annual rivalry and you can be sure both teams will be up for this one.

Tomorrow night the Hope Bobkittens begin their season at Prescott, starting at 7:30 p.m. The Bobkittens are looking good in practice and should have a promising season.

Rooker Has to Settle for 3-Hitter

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pitching a no-hitter crossed Jim Rooker's mind for a brief instant but the Kansas City left-hander quickly dismissed any such notion when he remembered the night of June 4.

The 27-year-old fireballer retired the first 16 California batters before Joe Azcue snapped the string with a single and Rooker had to settle for a neat three-hitter as the Royals trounced the Angels 12-0 Tuesday night.

"The no-hitter came to my mind but I didn't let myself get concerned by it," said the Royals' second-year man.

"I had a no-hitter for eight innings on June 4 and not only didn't I get it, I wound up losing the game. Tonight I wasn't going to worry about it," said the 6-foot, 190-pounder, who upped his record to 9-15.

On June 4 at New York, Rooker held the Yankees hitless until Horace Clarke opened the ninth with a single. The Yankees tied it in that inning and eventually won it 2-1 in 12 innings.

Rooker, in his last start, dropped a 1-0 decision to the Angels but said the difference this time was his control. "Everything was working."

He didn't walk a batter and struck out seven.

The Royals backed him with a 17-hit attack, including four hits apiece for Bob Oliver and Lou Piniella as the Angels fell to their fifth straight loss.

In other American League contests, Baltimore topped Detroit 6-3, Milwaukee edged Minnesota 3-2, New York tripped Washington 7-3 and Boston nipped Cleveland 4-3. The Oakland A's and Chicago White Sox were idle.

In the National League, the New York Mets ripped Montreal 10-5, Chicago slammed Pittsburgh 10-3, St. Louis downed Philadelphia 6-3, Houston nipped San Diego 8-7, Atlanta topped Los Angeles 3-2 and Cincinnati took San Francisco 5-2.

Boog Powell drove in three runs with a two-run homer and single and Frank Robinson slugged a homer in the Orioles' triumph, sending Mickey Lolich to his 17th defeat. The left-hander has won 12.

Phil Roof clubbed a two-run, two-out homer in the ninth inning, giving the Brewers their victory and stopping the Twins winning streak at five. Tony Oliva had his 21st homer for the Twins.

The Yankees drilled 16 hits, including three by Roy White and Ron Hansen as the New Yorker's took their fifth straight. White drove in three runs with a pair of triples and a single and scored twice.

Pitcher Ken Brett slammed a solo homer in the eighth inning, snapping a 3-3 tie in the Red Sox victory.

These matches will be played Thursday. Both men's semifinals will be staged Saturday with the final offering a $20,000 first prize, Sunday.

The women's matches will be staggered also, leading to the last round Sunday when the winner will get $7,500.

The women's favorite, Margaret Court, faces another Australian, Helen Gourlay, in the quarterfinals today with Nancy Richey, Cliff's older sister, opposing Lesley Hunt of Australia.

Mia Richey, No. 1 in the U.S. Rankings, and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco remain America's hopes of halting Mrs. Court's bid for a sweep of the major championships — a grand slam of the Australian, French, Wimbledon and U.S. titles which the late Maureen "Little Mo" Connolly won in 1963.

Stanford Picked to Beat Porks

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Where, oh where, have the breathers gone? Not for the big-time football schools—for the forecasters.

Things have reached a fine state when a fearless forecaster, still keeping one eye on the baseball scene, is faced with an early opening of the college football scene that lists such standout attractions as Stanford-Arkansas, Southern California-Alabama, etc.

The first major game is set for Friday night in St. Louis between Baylor, winless in 10 games a year ago and doormats of the Southwest Conference, and Missouri, defending co-champions of the Big Eight. Saturday, Sept. 12, lists almost 40 more major games. Sept. 12? Where have you gone, Joe DiMaggio?

Missouri was rated 11th in The Associated Press preseason poll and 11 other ranking teams — there was a three-way tie for 20th — will be in action Saturday. Top-ranked Ohio State takes things easy until Sept. 26 while No. 2 Texas, the 1969 national champs, kicks off its season Sept. 19.

Stanford vs. Arkansas at Little Rock — This is the first national TV game of the season and matches two super quarterbacks in Stanford's Jim Plunkett and Arkansas' Bill Montgomery. Plunkett is rated the equal of No. 1 pro draft pick Terry Bradshaw as a passer and they don't come any more poised than Montgomery.

Both QBs have good supporting casts — tight end Bob Moore, center John Sande and defensive tackle Dan Tipton of Stanford; split end Chuck Dicus, tailback Bill Burnett and defensive end Bruce James of Arkansas.

In the preseason poll, Montgomery's Razorbacks were fourth, Plunkett's Indians 10th. Coach Frank Broyles jokes that he put Stanford on the schedule as Arkansas' 11th game so his players wouldn't look ahead to Texas. A flip of the coin discloses that Rick Kersey, Arkansas' fine defensive lineman, is hurt and the pick is... Stanford.

Southern California vs. Alabama at Birmingham — The third-ranked Trojans are bidding for a fifth consecutive trip to the Rose Bowl while "Bama" is trying to bounce back from a miserable — for them — 6-5 season. Look for USC's rugged defense to harass Alabama quarterback Scott Hunter just enough for the winner to be... Southern Cal.

Wake Forest at Nebraska — Bob Devaney's Cornhuskers have two good quarterbacks and look solid everywhere. With room to spare... Nebraska.

Baylor vs. Missouri at St. Louis — The Aggies have no Phil Olsen to chase strong-armed Lynn Dickey of... Kansas State.

Duke vs. Florida at Jacksonville — Another aerial battle is on tap between Duke's Leo Hart-Wes Chesson duo and Florida's John Reeves-Carlos Alvarez. Add on tailback Tommy Durrance and the Gators just might have the most explosive offense in the country... Florida.

South Carolina at Georgia Tech — Rock Perdoni-ribbed defense provides the impetus for victory for... Georgia Tech.

UCLA at Oregon State — Bruins were dealt a severe blow with the loss of flashy runner Mickey Cureton but Oregon State probably is a year away. Led by Dennis Dummit... UCLA.

Oklahoma at Southern Methodist — SMU's Chuck Hixson is zeroing in on a number of national passing records and might get them against the shaky Sooner defense. Shakily... SMU.

William & Mary at West Virginia — Mountaineers were 10-1 in '69 and Coach Bobby Bowden sees no reason they shouldn't be 11-0 in '70... West Virginia.

TUESDAY'S STARS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PITCHING — Jim Rooker, Royals, retired the first 16 batters he faced and finished with a three-hitter, hurling Kansas City to a 12-0 romp over California.

BATTING — Roy White, Yankees, ripped three hits including two triples, driving in three runs and scoring two in New York's 7-3 victory over Washington.

AROUND AND AROUND WE GO. Joe Namath (left) is back, and so is Denny McLain (right) again, after trips through their personal revolving doors. Namath is quarterbacking the New York Jets again after hinting at retirement during a long holdout, and McLain, suspended from the Detroit Tigers for throwing water on two sports writers, has been reinstated.

Mets in a Position to Repeat

By HAL BOCK

It was one year ago today that the New York Mets swept a two-night doubleheader and, for the first time in their adventurous young lives, moved into first place in the National League's East Division.

A combination of circumstances, some of it their own doing and much of it Pittsburgh's and Chicago's, has placed the Mets in a position to celebrate that anniversary on top of the heap again—provided they can sweep another twi-night game. New York moved to within one-half game of the first place Pirates Tuesday, whipping Montreal 10-5 while third place Chicago, only one game behind, walloped Pittsburgh 10-3.

The Mets, who've won four straight and seven of the last nine, play a two-night doubleheader against Philadelphia tonight while the Pirates entertain St. Louis. A sweep by the Mets would assure them of at least a share of the lead, regardless of what the Pirates do. Chicago played an afternoon game against Montreal.

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday, St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 6-3, Houston outlasted San Diego 8-7, Atlanta edged Los Angeles 3-2 and Cincinnati tripped San Francisco 5-2.

In the American League, Kansas City bombed California 12-0, Milwaukee nipped Minnesota 3-2, Baltimore downed Detroit 6-3, New York took Washington 7-3 and Boston nipped Cleveland 4-3. Chicago and Oakland had the day off.

The Mets exploded for six runs in the eighth inning against the Expos with Ken Boswell's bases-loaded double driving home three and reliever Tug McGraw's bases-loaded single producing three more.

McGraw worked five strong innings of relief to nail down the victory but needed ninth inning help from Ron Herbel after Bob Bailey tagged a three-run homer for Montreal.

The Pirates, meanwhile, who've been out of first place only two days since July 11, absorbed another whipping from the club.

"I haven't had one word, direct or indirect, since the Vikings' general manager, Jim Finks, sent his ultimatum telegram six or eight weeks ago," said Kapp's attorney, John Elliot Cook.

Kapp, 33, whose quarterbacking led Minnesota to the National Football League championship in 1969, reportedly has been asking for a $1.25 million contract over five years. But the Vikings have steadfastly refused his demands.

Kapp played out his option last year and is free to deal with any pro team. Cook confirmed Tuesday that Kapp has been in Vancouver, B.C., but said the trip had no significance. Kapp formerly played in the Canadian Football League.

"At present, Joe is sort of gypsying around, sometimes in Vancouver, sometimes in Los Angeles, sometimes in Lake Tahoe, Nev.
